such a promise would have implied a desire to fered to go and see him home safely and not to allow the boys to hurt him. He then told me to "go home." Every person, so far as I know, was in the best of humor except the three or four previously named. We felt in dignant at his insolence towars Mr. Baldwin, myself and Mr. Round, as well as for the man per in which he had outraged the community, but on our part there was no impropriety in speech or temper, or threats of any kind; no person wished to hurt him. Mr. Round's oflense consisted in saying to me that I had the right to appeal, and that I had said no more than any citizen had a right to say, whereupon Mayor Whiting behaved in the most insulting

Rev. Charles King's Card. Manassas, March 22d, 1876.

To the editor of the Alexandria Guzette: You have republished in your paper certain artices from the Manassas Gazette, under the entions, "Have we any streets," and "shall med law rule in Manassas." D. W. Whiting print them as editorials; they are supposed, however, with his assistance, to have been written by a man better educated than him sit. I propose a review of the statements character or he would not have dared to adcontained in the articles alluded to, in defence dress him in the valgar manner in which he of my friends: They are so written as to make the impresment of Mr. Baldwin, and that he was ready sich that the matter over which we were "so indignat" was with reference to the proprie- for arrest. Mr. Round's arrest was an evation torship of certain lands in Manassas, through to him; the best citizens of the place cheered which he claimed that public streets were lo-cated. That is not true, as he well knows; like which he delivered on that occasion. Mayor the scuttle fish, he is trying to obscure the wa-Whiting is sustained here by none but a few ters to enable him to escape from his pursuers. | whiskey sellers and inebriates so far as I have the first "indignation meeting" was held while been able to ascertain his status. The temperwas in Alexandria, on account of his acring ance association, so far from being "a mob," the Judas Iscariot in relation to the temper- embraces the very best portion of our commuance movement, to which about (as the secre- nity; in fact all of the people save the liquor tary informs me) nine-tenths of our community dealers and their poor victims and a few neare committed. Mayor Whiting signed our groes they have in their employment. In my petition to the L gislature and wrote an edi- case the attack was malignant and unprovoked torial in his paper in favor of the movement, and without the forms of law, and deserves the and then, secretly to us, wrote and signed and reprobation it receives from gentlemen and advocated before the legislative committee a ladies without respect of party. The tempercounter petition in the interest of the whiskey ance movement will be renewed with greater party, and for this treachery a large and en- zeal than ever in the meanwhile. Charges will thusiastic indignation meeting, presided over be preferred, as I am informed, in the City by Col. Robert Tausill, was held, at which Council against Mayor Whiting for making resolutions were adopted denouncing his course and requesting him to resign the mayoralty. I endorse this action most heartily, but remy do not deserve any credit or blame which mry attach to it. He tries to get out of this by the "stop thief" method of attracting attention to others. He is the man in the mud. As to the lands in question I presame the Courts will be competent to de- at the election on the 25th of May next-subject termine. I am not aware that I have express to the decision of the Conservative party.

He, however is competent and I presume that he will not hesitate in making his own defence. The matter over which we were "indiguant" was in reference to the manner in which Mayor Whiting treated Mr. B. In the previous week's is-ue of the Manassas Gaz :tte he made a shameful attack on Mr. B. for which there was no adequate cause. Then he arrested

Mr. B on his own complaint; convicted him of obstructing a public highway without proving that there was any street located on the land 16 question, and that too when his Town Sergeant, had, for months, had large piles of lumber across the same route on the town side of the railroad, so that it would have been impossible to have reached the point of land in dispure by that route even if there had been a street there. I know of no person to whom I would more readily confide a question of this character than to Judge Keith, if the facts were all before him, and have said nothing whatever of an unfavorable character of this gentleman. My presence at the Mayor's office was occasioned by Mr. Baldwin's being called out of my house at about 8 o'clock at night and privately arrested without having an opportunity to so much as inform me that he was under arrest. Mayor Waiting's behaviour toward Mr. Baldwin during the "farce" of a trial was in the highest degree improper, whilst that of Mr. Baldwin was that of the cultured gentleman as he is known to be wherever he is known at all. I am represented as acting in a

Mayor Whiting, in a most ill natured much more extensive line of these goods than we manner, threatened if that was repeated he would clear the room, and I said "yes" in an undertone, and in the best possible humor, and stated by Mayor Whiting, but remained behind conversing with a few friends, and as I was returing home. I met a crowd of men stand. ing, conversing quietly on the corner opposite the Presbyteriau Church, to whom I proposed that we go around and call on Col. Tansill and have a temperance speech. The Colonel had been to Richmond at the request of the Temperance Association, and I presumed that he would feel complimented by a call of this char-the court room and gone home.) Many voices, h wever, responded, "no let us have an indig-nation meeting." I said "do you think so," and a volume of voices responded "yes," and matter of justice to so good a citizen as. Mr.

Baldwin, under the circumstances I proposed said "aye." I then took the negative, and there was not a single "no." There were a few, however, perhaps three or four, who did not vote. I then offered a resolution disapproving and condemong the manner in which the Mayor had arrested and treated Mr. Baldwin.

Whereupon Mayor Whiting, without commanding us to disperse, or anything of the kind, Y ded out, "Sergeant arrest Mr. King and bring him to the office." I went back to the office asked the pleasure of the court, whereupon

I was informed that he fined me $10 for going out on the street and trying to get up a riot.

He said there were (naming a large number, the amount of which I am not positive) present, as respectable and influential as myself, who would swear that I was trying to get up a riot. I turned to the audience and appealed to them to say, if a man of them believed I acter, and would doubtless be pleased to give us a good speech, as he had not spoken since his return. (He had previously retired from
